It writes the first 100 or so lines from a textfile to a.txt file and then reads that file and writes those same lines back into the file where they should be, except it only writes the first.5 of a line and then stops. It's supposed to write and read the file continuously until the ReadLine() method is called: public void writingToFile() { FileStream fs = new FileStream("StoreInfo.txt", FileMode.OpenOrCreate); FileWriter fw = new FileWriter(fs); BufferedWriter out = new BufferedWriter(fw
